● THE PROBLEM

Owners want to market. They just can't.

Either they don't know how, or it costs too much.

CAN'T MAKE IT

Don't know how

Shooting, editing and copywriting are each a professional skill. Owners are busy running the business — no time to learn them.

CAN'T AFFORD IT

Too expensive

Paying someone for every video adds up fast. Posting consistently is far beyond a small shop's budget.

What they need is a tool they can use themselves to do their own marketing — and win more business.

The image displays three overlapping screenshots of the ThinkNova web application, illustrating the three-step process for generating a video. Each screenshot is marked with a numbered blue circle (1, 2, or 3) in its top-left corner.

- Step 1: The first screenshot shows the initial screen with the title "What does your store do?". Below the title, it says "Choose your industry and we will recommend suitable content directions and examples." The interface includes a sidebar with icons for "Create", "Agents", "Tasks", and "Assets", and a top navigation bar with the URL "thinknova.top".
- Step 2: The second screenshot shows the screen titled "What content do you want to publish?". Below the title, it says "Choose what you want to promote, and we will match it with suitable examples and creative directions." The interface is similar to Step 1, with the same sidebar and navigation bar.
- Step 3: The third screenshot shows the "Basic info" form. It includes fields for "Product or service name" (with a required field indicator), "Price or offer" (optional), "Store name" (optional), and "Store location" (optional). There are also sections for "Reference upload (optional)" with buttons for "Person reference", "Scene reference", "Product reference", "Extra reference 1", and "Extra reference 2". A "Core settings (optional)" section includes dropdowns for "Video ratio" (set to 9:16 vertical), "Video style" (set to Real store promo...), "Output language" (set to English), "Visual focus" (set to Subject close-up), "On-camera mode" (set to Product only), "Publishing platform" (set to Not specified), and "Ending CTA" (set to Not specified). At the bottom, there is a "Selling point tags (optional)" section with a "Signature taste" tag and a "Choose tags" button. The "Additional requirement (optional)" section is at the very bottom. The interface also shows a "Video duration" of 15s, an "Estimated cost" of 75 credits, and a "Balance" section. Buttons for "Back to scenario and case" and "Start generating" are at the bottom right.
